FTA Supports a Prompt and Constructive Decision on MES for China

Brussels, 13 July 2016. The Foreign Trade Association (FTA) believes that the EU-China annual summit held in Beijing on 12 and 13 July should have served to find a way out of the crisis related to the granting of Market Economy Status (MES) to China. While there are good reasons for giving China this status, opposition by MES-opponents has led to EU inaction up to now. At the same time China is pursuing a purely legalistic strategy which is likely to end up in a lengthy procedure and therefore long period of uncertainty at the WTO.

“The summit was a non-summit. It failed to make some progress in this regard and we regret that this opportunity was wasted”, said Pierre Gröning, FTA’s Head of Trade Policy. FTA calls for common sense and for real pragmatism so that this unhealthy deadlock can be overcome as soon as possible. “Both sides have to be creative in finding a political solution to avoid that today’s frictions turn into a trade war tomorrow. I would link MES to the ongoing talks for an investment agreement: China gets MES and the EU significantly better market access”, concluded Mr Gröning.
