The business case for a gender-inclusive COVID-19 recovery

Women have the potential to make a huge economic contribution: A McKinsey Global Institute report found that $12 trillion could be added to global GDP by 2025 by advancing women’s equality. However, the COVID-19 pandemic is intensifying existing gender discrimination, leaving women hardest hit by the socio-economic impacts.

"Across every sphere, from health to the economy, security to social protection, the negative impacts of COVID-19 are exacerbated for women. This is the time to ensure that gender equality concerns are fully embedded in our short-term responses and longer-term recovery to build the more equal and resilient societies that we will need coming out of this crisis."

What are the Women’s Empowerment Principles (WEPs)?

The Women’s Empowerment Principles (WEPs) are a set of Principles offering guidance to business on how to promote gender equality and women’s empowerment in the workplace, marketplace and community. Established by UN Global Compact and UN Women, the WEPs are informed by international labour and human rights standards and grounded in the recognition that businesses have a stake in and a responsibility for gender equality.
The UN WOMEN WEPs Activator

The ‘WEPs Activator’ is UN Women’s capacity-building programme that brings together a cohort of up to 15 companies for an opportunity to learn and exchange knowledge and insight on gender-responsive policies and practices through training and mentoring.

This new program, which is strongly anchored around the Women’s Empowerment Principles (WEPs), will enable companies to assess their current progress and set clear targets and action plans to build a more gender-inclusive business and supply chains.
